

Blurb:

Commitments require constant renewal. What does it look like to renew our commitments on the small scale and on the global scale? How do we cultivate forgiveness and accountability in our communities?

